

RediClinic is high-quality, affordable healthcare that fits how we live today. No appointments, no waiting – and routine medical and preventive care in about 15 minutes. RediClinic provides convenient and affordable treatment for more than 25 common medical conditions, such as strep throat and ear infections. RediClinic also provides health screenings, medical tests, vaccinations, immunizations, and physicals.

RediClinics are staffed by nurse practitioners who provide high-quality primary care and can prescribe needed medications. They are registered nurses with advanced degrees and clinical training, in partnership with doctors from an outstanding local healthcare system.

RediClinics are conveniently located in the stores in which you already shop, near the pharmacies of Wal-Mart, H-E-B, or Duane Reade stores. They are open extended hours every day of the week, including most holidays. For more information see www.rediclinic.com

RediClinic is a part of InterFit Health. Since 1989, InterFit Health has provided people with easy access to convenient, accurate, and affordable health screening and other personal health management services. Today the company is the largest provider of retail health screening services in the United States, and its RediClinics are a leader in convenient care. The Houston-based company also provides health screenings, flu shots, and other health-related services to major employers, as well as to consumers through its Internet site at www.interfit.com
